SMUGGLING AS A FINE ART.

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS' WORTH OF GOODS SEIZED FROM STEERAGE PASSENGERS AT CASTLE GARDEN-THE CROOKED CIGAR BUSI-

more the appearance of a third rate auction room yesterday than the demure receptacle of contraband goods. The large counter in the centre of the rotunda pieces of dress goods in calico, lawns, mobair, weoliens and cashineres and expensive silks. Embroideries were also very conspicuous, and cheap "Brummagem" jewelry was no mean part of the invoice. All these were found in the possession of Gorman steerage passengers who arrived yesterfay in the steamship Herder from Hamburg. Inspector Chapman, on looking through a trunk belonging to a male passenger, discovered that it had a false bottom.

Opening this he found concealed therein several pieces of silk dress goods and other dutiable articles. At the same time the officer noticed two very handsome ladies, who appeared very nervous, and who had been hadies, who appeared very nervous, and who had been in close and earnest conversation with the man of the laise bottomed trunk. Their attire seemed to be more appropriate for the latitude of Greenland than the sweltering climate or New York city at this particular season. The ladies had had their baggage already passed, but on going out the inspector asked the younger of the two whether she had any goods about her person which were subject to duty. She answered him:

"On the honor of a lady, we have not."

VALUABLE PREMARE PREMING.

"On the honor of a lady, we have not."

The ladies, however, were detained, and Miss Jenaie Ferris, the inspectress on duty at Castle Garden, scarched them. Almost every garment on their person was paided with goods, consisting of the materials above mentioned. A Talima closk was filled out with about fifty dozen like scarls and pieces of lace. The ladies were released, but their goods remained behind. The fair smurgiers are Mrs. Fredrika Rothstein and daughter. In the padding of the vest of the man with the lake bottomed trunk several hundred doilars' worth of laces were found and confiscated. In the hand bag of another passenger a fine sealskin sacque was found and seized.

Special Agent Brackett enriched the seizure room yesterday with a seizure of two pieces of fine Ponsion Siks measuring about 150 yards, valued at $2.50 per yard. He had been informed that this sik is only consigned to one firm in this country, and sold at fixed rates. The goods seized had been sold at auction at a little more than half price, and it was evident that either the sixty per cent duties had been evaded or the sik was stolen. the silk was stolen.

Four bags of sugar smeggled from the brig Eliza Stevens found their way to the seizure room, as well as 1,500 eigars seized on the steamer Columbus, and 1,300 eigars, attempted to be smuggled from the steamer City of Mexico.

TWO MURDERERS LYNCHED.

HOW CRIME IS AVENGED IN CALIFORNIA. [From the San Francisco Cail.]

SANTA CRUZ, May 10, 1877. The murderers of DeForrest, Francisco Arias and José Chamalis, were this morning found hanging from dend, their feet and hands being tightly bound with hay ropes. On the night before last men were seen in the orchard back of the jail, but as no attempt was made to lynch the prisoners the people concluded that the law would be allowed to take its course. At two o'clock this morning the jailer and under sheriff were surrounded by a body of men. These men broke open the juil yard door and obtained from the officers the juil keys. It is sur-mised that the prisoners were placed in a wagon and driven to the place of execution, the where he was and asked him to accompany the speaker to the circus. He replied that he had no money. Arias said that they would get some, and they went to the locality where Deforrest was, and Deforrest nappening along Arias fired at him. Deforest not stopping, Arias afred again, when Deforrest fell. They remained in the willows till all was quiet, and then they dranged the murdered man across the road. His pockets were robbed of $8. Arias kept $5.50 of the amount, and they went to the circus. Arias was thirty-eight years of age and was born near Pescatero. He still has relatives residing in this county. For murdering a sheep berder in San Luis Obisso he was sent to State Prison for three years, his brother baving been sent there for file for the same crime. For roboing the house of P. Murphy, of Watsonville, he was sent to the State Prison from this county for two years. For a time he denied the murder of Deforrest, but, on being closely cross-examined indirectly admitted the crime. By request of Chamalis they were put in different ceils.

ANOTHER JACK SLADE

AUDACIOUS MURDER IN OREGON.

[From the Portland Standard.]

Henry L. Sutton, a desperate character and well known saloon keeper in Port Townsend, W. T., committed a desperate murder at that place last Friday afternoon, which for the cool and deliberate malice with which it was executed has few parallels. It seems that he had a misunderstanding with Captain Charles Howard, a citizen of the same place, about a dog, and Howard, a citizen of the same place, about a dog, and seeing the Captain pass his saloon be invited him to enter. The request was refused, whereupon Sutton reentered his den, and procuring a loaded revolver returned and deliberately fired at Howard, shooting him in the stemach. His vengeance was cow satisfied, and his attention was turned to the boat means of effecting his escape. He marched back into the saloon, took all the money he could collect, reloaded his revolver, and grasping a Henry rife and a shotgun threatened to kill any one who dired afteript to oppo entry proceeding to the waard he got into a sailboat moored in the river, and spreading the canvas to the breeze calmy pointed his vessel toward British soil. En route he met the steamer Favorite, and telling the Captain he was in pursuit of one who had committed a large robbery he asked to be taken to Victoria. The captain could not comply, but took him as far as Dungeness, and as the steamer was passing out of sight the murderer was seen sailing out into the Straits of Fuca, with the expectation, it is supposed, of meeting with a vessel bound for some foreign port. Suiton is a noted desperado, and has been concerned in many crimes of a similar character. When very young he shot a man in Massachuseits, and, effecting his escape to California, was concerned there in another shooting affray. He was at one time editorially connected with the Register and Messenger, two newspapers formerly published at Port Townsend, but now dead, in 1872 he was accessory to a murder committed by Jack Quale, alias "Poker Jack," a prominent gambler on the Sound, who was himself subsequently killed. It is aimost incredible that a man guilty of so horrible a crime could escape in broad daylight in the presence of a large number of persons who were attracted by the shooting. The only reason assigned is that they were paralyzed by his audaenty. grasping a Henry rife and a shotgun threatened to

MURDER CONSUMMATED.

[From the St. Louis Republican.] William B. Sicking, market master of Soulard Mar-ket, died at SIX minutes before eight o'clock last night t his residence on Picotte street, his death being the result of stabs inflicted by Michael Roemer on last Thursday night. Sicking, in addition to his official work, followed the calling of a fisherman, as did Roe-mer. On Thursday night Sicking and his brother Her-mann had a difficulty with Roemer at the foot of Picott mann had a difficulty with Roemer at the foot of Picots arrest, growing out of some matters connected with their business, and it resulted in a fight. Roemer drew a knile and stabbed William Sicking several places in the left side and leg, and Hermann Sicking struck Roemer with a picee of iron on top of the head, inflicting a very ugly wound.

Roemer was piaced under arrest after his wound was dressed, and next day a warrant was sworn out charging him with a marderous assault. Ho was released on bail by the Court of Criminal Correction. On Sunday, when gaugrene set in on Sicking's arm, making it evident he most die, an officer was sent to arrest Roemer, but he was nowhere to be found. It is thought that he learned that Sicking would die, and nence left the city.

HUNTER'S POINT STENCHES.

THE NUISANCES OF LONG ISLAND CITY TO BE INVESTIGATED-AN EFFORT TO INDICT THEIR

The residents of Murray Hill and Yorkville are in arms against the Long Island City authorities who in arms against the Long Island City authorities who permit manulacturers at and near Hunter's Point to fill the air with vile and deadly stenches. These odors this summer have become so offensive that a number of the wealthy property owners on the upper end of the island have combined to hold public meetings and organize a campaign upon the Long Island offenders. The first meeting will be held to-night at the Grand Union Hotel, when Senator Gerard and other prominent gentlemen will participate. Yesterday a reporter of the Herand, in conversing with ex-Sanitary Separationed Morris, of this city, was informed by him that the smell is so offensive between eight and ten c'cleck nearly every day at his residence, in Fitty-second sirect, near Lexington avenue, that he, is common with most or the residents of that region, are leved to shut their windows. Dr. Morris states that there is a meapprehension in the minds of the public as to the source of these deadly stenches. From his investigations he is satisfied that they emanate from a fertilizing factory at Binswille. At this factory the refluse of sulphuric acid, which is used by the oil refluence, is employed in the manufacture of fertilizors, and the stench is a combination of petroleum, sulphuric acid and the diaguasing animal matter that forms component parts of the manufacture of interesting in the property owners affected by the vite smells to make a desperate effort to have the authors of this outrage indicted and punished. The meeting te-night is preliminary merely to such action.

Mayor Ely has signed the resolution passed by the Board of Aldermen proposing a conference with the Long Island authorities as to some method of abating the nuisance. rmit manufacturers at and near Hunter's Point to OFFICER BLEIL MAKES HIS TENTH BESCUE The children of the Fourth Street Methodist Church Sunday school were going on an excursion yesterday. The steamer on which they were about to embark lay at the foot of West Tenth street. The little ones and at the foot of West Tenth street. The little ones and their guardians were passing from the shore to the boat along the gangpiank when little Maud Simpson, aged thricen, of No. 119 West Eleventh street, lelinto the river. Shricks of dismay filled the sir, and there was a general rush to see the girl. All the attention and ellorts of the teachers and officers were required to prevent another accident. Officer Bleit, who was on duty at this point, leaped overboard and saved the child. This is the tenth person he has recued from drowning.

AN OMAHA POISONER.

HOW DR. ST. LOUIS GOT RID OF HIS WIFE. [From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]
ORAHA, Neb., June 11, 1877.
The crime of wife murder has been brought against

Dr. G. F. St. Louis, a well known and, until intely, highly respected physician of Fremont, Neb., with such strong circumstantial evidence that no doubt is such strong circumstantial evidence that no doubt is entertained of his guilt. Mrs. St. Louis died a few days ago with symptoms indicating the administration of poison. After her death the stomach, liver and inof poison. After her death the stomach, liver and intestines were sent on to Chicago for chemical examination. A toxicological investigation by Dr. Walter & Haines reveals the presence of arsenic in large and marked proportions in the stomac and liver. Dr. St.
Louis was immediately arrested, and fears are entertained that he will be lynched unless removed to another county. The Coroner's jury, which adjourned to await the result of the stomach analysis, will reconvene immediately. One of Mrs. St. Louis attendants will testify that in the absence of her physicians Dr. St. Louis came into the bedroom and ordered the administration of some white powders. These were followed by retchings and vomittings on the part of Mrs. St. Louis, which the other physicians, when called on, could not understand. For a year past Dr. St. Louis has been paying the closest attention to Mrs. Bloomer, the wife of a music dealer in Fremont, and the tongue of scandai has been busy with their names. Mrs. Bloomer was recently divorced, her husband suing for a separation on grounds of adultery. Dr. St. Louis' treatment of his wife during the meantime has been inhumany cruel. For about a month past he has been trying to secure an insurance on her life for $5,000.
This was refused, his castractor having recently come into question on account of his rumored illicit intimacy with Mrs. Bloomer. It was discovered, a few days since, beyond douby, that Dr. St. Louis' medical diploma was an absolute torgery, the name of St. John thereon having been altered to St. Louis.
